15 Israelis 01 Mar 2009 The International Criminal Police Organization (ICPO) has issued a circular calling for the arrest of 15 top Israeli officials over war crimes. At a news briefing on Sunday, Tehran's Public Prosecutor, Saeed Mortazavi, said that Iran had referred the case to the organization, known as Interpol, drawing on the Interpol charter and Israel's violation of the Geneva Conventions. "ICPO has notified governments of 180 countries to arrest the suspects," who were involved in the 23-day Israeli offensive on Gaza in December and January he said.

Israel's attorney general says he'll indict Olmert 01 Mar 2009 Israel's attorney general notified Prime Minister Ehud Olmert on Sunday that he plans to indict him on suspicion of illicitly taking cash-stuffed envelopes from a Jewish-American businessman -- a sensational case that turned public opinion so sharply against the Israeli leader that he was forced to resign. Olmert would become the first Israeli prime minister ever indicted.

U.S. commits further $30 billion to AIG: sources 02 Mar 2009 The U.S. government threw a new $30 billion 'lifeline' to American International Group Inc on Sunday as the embattled insurer prepared to report the biggest quarterly loss in corporate history. AIG's board approved a new rescue package that also includes more lenient terms on a government investment in its preferred shares and a lower interest rate on a government credit line, two sources familiar with the matter said.

Mountie caught lying: "I zapped him 4 times!" Actually, he zapped the immigrant 5 times! The Mounties said he was not acting rationally! As if 5 zaps would make him rational!!

hat the G20 need to do you found a starving baby lying at your doorstep would you slam the door shut and end it wasn't there? If your garden was on you would you close the curtains and go back our TV set so you did not have to watch it

And yet, all we hear coming from world leaders is vague talk about "reforming the financial system" and "dealing with the economic crisis." This is no ordinary crisis, this is a planetary emergency of the highest order. The world leaders need to get their adrenaline to go without that extra steak once a week to support killing then they should to the same to support saving lives. They can worry about a new architecture after the dying has stopped.

The same applies for nature. We must stop gency then I recommend a massive hunger strike in front of all the G20 government buildings. Let them see hunger with their own eyes as they enter their government palaces.

The G20 leaders should hold their meeting
