

Dear Springeagle:

After speaking with you last month I have recently read both books you gave me: Talks With Christ and Celestine Prophecies. I have also seen the movies you mentioned: The Secret and The Celestine Prophecy, (the Celestine movie is very different than the book).

I kept in mind what you said about no book or any form of media is "all truth or fact, but to gain some incite into the subject. If books or material is taken as truth all books would be bibles. Man writes the books and man is imperfect therefore we need to use our minds and souls to get what we need or want out of what we read."

All are great but only one, (The Secret), actually says anything about changing the negative thought patterns before trying to do any of these things to attain higher ground in life or with Spirituality. The changes needed are lightly touched in The Secret but not in any of the other sources of information I was using.

We have been witnessing and living the hells of realization that we need to clear out our minds of negativity and unresolved issues. Even the best forms of positive thinking will not stop us from sabotage ourselves once we have acquired what we want.

We know we can get all we desire but if we don't appreciate it we will loose it. Many of us have already lived that one through so why do these great writers and producers not mentioning this in a more serious light and why are some of them just leaving this important section out of the entire scenario?

In my eyes it does more damage to gin what one wants and desires just to loose it again because we fear what we love the most so we sabotage ourselves.

I would like to apply these things to my life but need to understand so that I do it right.

Please guide me

Caroline

Hi Caroline:

I have also noticed that in these works and felt a great gap in what they are trying to say. What they are saying about attraction is very true but if your mind is not well due to unresolved issues and negative thinking issues the joy will be short lived with the dreams. Much pain and destruction will replace any happiness gained very early into the dream.

For example a couple dreamed their way into each others lives, gets together and is in total bliss.

Look a little deeper:

They dreamed each other into each other's lives so do each truly know who the other really is or is the personality of each part of the dream and quite different?

I find that realization of these differences is what bust the bubble and all hell begins. Suddenly the bliss turns into the occasional argument, then arguing then fighting then hell.

This couple got what they wanted but the outcome shows that they were not ready for this bliss emotionally thus they destroyed it..

I have also gone through the workings without dealing with my issues. It was pure hell being able to get what I wanted but not being able emotionally to handle it and destroying all I had gained and then some.

So you see you are right to questioning.

Know that to heal properly you will need to deal with your issues, as they come up, reach out for what you can handle emotionally and let it grow into what you will be able to handle tomorrow. Patients.

I am glad you noticed this and are open to using the parts that are worth it.

Blessings

Dear Springeagle:

It has been a while I have posted. So in I was ponder this question and thought I put it out for your consideration.

My opinion:

We are all energy of course. But have been calling our self-spirits in the physical. I thought about energy and how it was present before we where. The EARTH IS MASS OF ENERGY. We have heard of many ways we began activity we call life. It is not the answer I seek. I want to know what is your perception of what is God?

Thanks

BRENDA

Hi Brenda:

In my mind God is the main energy source and we are fragments he has sent out into the universe to represent whatever job or life we have come to represent.

Each lifetime is different but connected Karmic ally. The fragment of light energy that is our selves is our spirit and this is the part of each of us that is God.

Therefore I believe the spirit is our God self-striving to work the body or form we were borne to be.

Our Spirit maintains all the personalities of the entities we have ever lived within.

Dear Springeagle:

I have a question in reference to my families' problem.

now--and believe me I do feel like a fool--and I am aware that I caused it--what do you think?

Jan

Hi Jan:

What I thinks is happening is that when you get near something you like you begin to get despite, over react and dramatize things out of fear. I used to do these things and destroyed many relationships in doing so.

You need to deal with your deep fear of rejection and learn to accept love first from yourself and then from others without the fear of loosing.

We truly never loose love, only the source in the physical.

Love is eternal and when I accepted this and law healed many old wounds I was able to stop pushing everyone I loved away from me.

Dear Springeagle:

does an acquaintance I know have any feelings for me now or does he think I'm a loser? did he ever feel anything for me or was it all in my head?

Thank You Becca

Hi Becca:

Yes he has feelings but feelings are fleeting and they change depending what the input is. If you feel he feels negatively about you are right and if you wish it to be positive then you must change your thoughts regarding yourself.

Dear Springeagle:

I have feelings for a person and wonder if this person feels anything for me. Sometimes it seems like he does and then I begin to doubt myself.

Dianne

Hi Dianne;

I have found that everyone has feelings for all it come into contact with in life.

Yes this person feels most likely feel what you feel but for many reasons may be in a very different space and they may or may not mean anything at all to him. what you feel. The question is will he in space to admit it, do they realize it and what they wish to do with it.

Many times in life people do not realize what they truly feel for another and deny any feelings at all for whatever reason they may have.

Whenever someone states a problem with someone else, the problem is ignored and it seems to escalate not just tension, but new problematic scenarios. Is there any remedy?

With love Roda

Dear Roda:

Many families have this problem. When I was a kid, my family just kept yelling louder and louder. Nothing ever got solved.

You all have to learn to take one problem, deal with it to the end then work on the next one. Learn how to be more objective and use less emotion when doing this. Proper communication skills, patients, tolerance and understanding is the best way to work out problems.

Dear Springeagle:

hello angel love and thank you so much for responding to my question--this is really something I should have let go of a long time ago, normal people don't dwell on things long periods of time, but I have this infamous knack for doing so--and in the process, can alienate anyone who is close to me--I really at times have thought I was crazy for feeling the way I do, because for all intents and purposes he has blown me off, or my dramatics, as I've been told, were too old--I am married and so is he but I always knew I liked him--meaning his opinion of me mattered and he had qualities that drew me to him--I messed things up in a big way by running my mouth about him constantly and thinking that he had similar interest/attraction/like for me--and I based this on the fact that he did at times seem uncomfortable around me--but I'm not from this area, don't really know too many people and supposedly, it's different--whatever that means--people told me that whatever I thought I felt from him was how he is with all women and his wife is open to it--what has been driving me crazy, is how could I have been so wrong--I know he is angry/doesn't care for me

Nothing Will Get Better Without Unconditional "LOVE"

Angel Femia / Lovecry

Everywhere we here people talking about The Wars Overseas, Illuminati, Natural Disasters, Crime Rates, Brake Down of the Family Unit and Society as we know it, Deadly Diseases and Global Warming. All are very important issues and need to be addressed big time as do many others we as humans are facing in our world right now. It is a very hard time and we need to come together to deal with it all. I do however have one problem with all of the ways we here from our medias to correct these problems. We can clean up our environment, work for world peace clan together and stop the illuminati, calm down mother earth by changing our ways of life to coincide closer to nature, learn to heal our criminals as opposed to criminalizing the sick into being criminals, repair the family units and bring society back on track thus helping to cease global warming. Many great people have ideas that almost would work but there is one thing missing. With all this pain and hell going on the one ingredient that could help the correcting of these and other issues a great deal better "LOVE" I have had many interactions with so many people in the past sixteen years with Love-Cry and can say that almost all of them are literally afraid of LOVE and work hard to scare themselves right away from anything to do with it. Everyone pretends to be open and wanting but when love beckons we do things that we know in our hearts will destroy any chance of the Love Seed growing.

I am an Ordained Minister in two systems and a Ordained High Priestess in another and find that even many of the other Ministers are missing the point. The reason for any church or ministry is to teach, cultivate and grow LOVE. Everything else is secondary no matter what it is. But I ask you if these Ministers are afraid of being hurt due to LOVE then it is imposible for them to do their jobs for God and/or Goddess and thus in the eyes of the universe rendering them Ministers in Name Only.

Musicians sing about LOVE but what do they love when off the stage and how do they treat their loved ones and themselves. I am a musician and know that our primary job is to spread love for Father God and Mother Goddess. Before we are able to do this we must first know how to and practice love.

Politicians are here to give us examples of how to live within our society, care for and look out for our interests as a whole but what I have seen is greed, ego and selfishness. If our politicians learned how to love our countries would be much more compassionate and our societies that much stronger and caring. People would feel much better about handing over more tax money and helping out in the communities. (And so on to find many more examples). All and every prophet that has every visited our earth including Christ, Buddha, Lennon and King say the same thing "LOVE is the Answer" We are borne feeling LOVE but not with a blueprint as to how to LOVE ourselves or anyone or thing. This we humans need to learn and all of our best Prophets have been teaching us for centuries, We need to listen and apply their teachings. Our family units and Societies could heal with LOVE and thus we could attend to the other problems with more enthusiasm and desire.

The Greatest Love

What if I could speak all languages of humans and of angels? If I did not love others, I would be nothing more than a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. What if I could prophesy and understand all secrets and all knowledge? And what if I had faith That moved mountains? I would be nothing, unless I loved others. What if I gave away all that I owned and let myself be burned alive? I would gain nothing, unless I loved others.

Love is kind and patient, never jealous, boastful, proud, or rude. Love isn't selfish or quick tempered. It doesn't keep a record of wrongs that others do. Love rejoices in the truth, but not in evil. Love is always supportive, loyal, hopeful and trusting. For now there are faith, hope and love But of these three the greatest is love. 1 Corinthians 13.1-7,13
