

Toronto Survival In The New Millennium!

By Victor Fletcher,

Publisher, Internet Author, Radio Personality & Astrologer

Funny thing, Toronto Street News got more threats over the reporting over the years of the 911 rooftop Dancing Israelis than any other stories -- including especially the updates; updates which also include the Israeli TV video interviews of the 'Dancing Israelis' -- the ones whose 'moving' van cover story also had residues of explosives detected inside. Heroes of Israel?

If they weren't part of the guilty culprits, we must remember that knowing about a serious crime was going to be committed and not passing on a warning makes you an accomplice. In this case, an accomplice to mass murder.

Why would Israel/Larry Silverstein be in charge of the security corporations at the airports where the 911 planes took off from?

Why did Eliot Spitzer enable Silverstein to get an extra billion in insurance damages from 911? He was due to get 3.4 billion and wanted an extra 3.4 billion for the second plane having hit the building on his terrorism insurance payments (a few months old?)? So, Spitzer negotiated that extra billion. But when Spitzer wanted to investigate 911 itself a little closer he was suddenly exposed by a GOP dirty trickster using the same hooker outfit? The hooker outfit of course was run by a man with dual-citizenship, Israeli passport, etc.

Why did Building 7 go down so fast and the U.S. 911 Commission totally omit mention of that 3rd building's high-speed 'collapse -- without being hit by any plane? Dov Zeikheim, Pentagon comptroller when $3 TRILLION went missing also worked at the company making the 747 remote flying controller company. Why does the left conveniently suppress or 'forget' these facts?

Anyway, I believe Brigham Young University Professor Jones' gathered evidence of thermate, etc. being the real cause of the collapses and the local damage of vehicles in the parking area that just plain melted -- why are those photos never shown any more?

Wings and engines don't disappear while leaving DNA of every passenger immediately available at the Pentagon. Black boxes don't disappear, Flight 93 residue crash wasn't a complete plane in the ground, etc., etc. No cell phone calls were made from these jets it is now proven. 911 was a conspiracy. Enemies of North America didn't care how many North Americans and others were killed that day.

The Israel/Tavistock/Rothschild think-tank doesn't care either. The Vatican's Jesuits are players too in the take-over of Jerusalem wherein Israel's Peres leadership sells out Israel's own ultimate interests.

The conspiracy run by CSIS/MI-5 used to send emails to Toronto Street News trying to get us involved in their shenanigans. I am sure they tried to expand their circle of contacts to take in as many people as they possibly could. They printed stories in the Star and other dailies at the time suggesting targets for the supposed threat. This included stupid things like the giant concrete and steel CN Tower which was impossible to blow up plus other standard targets and cultural icons that would shock regular Canadians if they were destroyed. These were not viable targets for terrorists. Again, these 'targets' were set up to shock average Canadians.

After 2 years of watching and surveilling the '18', knowing they couldn't get any more names involved in emails, etc. they knew their budget justifications were at an end and they should close down the operation by simply laying charges to justify the huge expensive exercise. But they did have enough money to blow it on one last overtime blast - they put together 300 personnel as snipers and police presence the day of the arraignment of the 18 --- in other words, they hired 300 police at $50.00 an hour for 8 hours. Figure out that unnecessary cost to make a show for public consumption. They knew there were no more 'suspects' out there but blew the money anyway. Taxpayers of course, paid up for nothing as usual.

Toronto's Star's part owner Lenny Bloom, trained in counter-intelligence at cloakanddagger.de exposed the English/Rothschild MI-5 angle wherein the agents stayed at the Prince Hotel (what else?) and probably financed the 'camp' north of Toronto.

The global warming scam was formulated in the early 90's by New World Order people like Maurice Strong who said at the earth summit: "By the time we are through you will wish you had the rights of a tree".

That is the purpose of global warming - any evidence that supports it is purely coincidental. Since then, his bosses the Rothschilds and Brontfmans push a $ tax on the public instead of pushing electric cars and other devices that are actual environmental protection devices -- too numerous to mention here.

Letter:

Remember this, Canadians - the deal to have Israelis run ALL Canadian computers has already been inked by the insidious Stockwell day, hahahaha Minister of "Public" Safety .. The Socialism for the Rich political agenda gets more entrenched by the DAY - yes, here in CANADA. The Tasers are arriving, the surveillance equipment being purchased, the corporatization of our universities proceeding on neocon schedule .. need I say more???)

My buddies and I are already keeping track of the moves of the family values groups that Harper is manipulating to snipe away at laws on the BOOKS. The assault on movie making and the CENSORSHIP that the fundies/evangelicals want is continuing ... to ultimately create a Bush-style police state.

— Supporter of Toronto Street News

Why The Roman Catholic Church Needs To Visit The Confession Booth

By Benjamin Fulford

Supporter of Toronto Street News, ex-Canadian, Former 7 year bureau chief for Forbes Magazine in Tokyo.

It is time for the Roman Catholic Church to give up its nearly 2,000 year old secrets and explain to the world what it really represents. Despite its many great works, the Catholic Church is also Roman bureaucracy that was responsible for one of the greatest acts of cultural genocide in history. It needs to confess its sins and ask for forgiveness.

To understand this, we need to go back to its early history during the Roman Empire when a slave religion was hijacked and turned into a form of Roman mind-control. When the Emperor Constantine held the council of Nicaea in 325 AD, he basically decided to impose a bastardized version of Sumerian, Egyptian God king mind control on the people of his empire.

Him and his followers stole what he liked from the traditions of the two great Western river civilizations and merged it with bits from Greco-Roman religions to create what is now known as Christianity. Everything else then banned by his successors until eventually a penalty of death through torture was imposed on all who would hold a different form of thinking. This was an act of cultural genocide that ruined the Western Roman Empire and started the dark ages. It was only thanks to the Jews and the Arabs that much of Western knowledge was saved for human posterity.

To be sure the Roman Church deserves credit for disseminating the teachings of Jesus Christ. That is why wherever you find the most miserable and poor people on earth, you will find a Catholic charity trying to help. We all know about Mother Teresa but she is just a symbol for many like her. In Macau I recently met with a 95-year old Jesuit who, among many other acts of charity, built 150 sanctuaries for neglected Chinese lepers. They have done great good for the downtrodden of this earth and deserve rich praise for their good works.

I went to Sophia University in Tokyo, a Jesuit institution. The Jesuits I met there, up to and including the Dean, made vows of poverty and chastity, wore second hand clothing and lived in shabby apartments. They were also enlightened individuals. One Jesuit, for example, although he believed in devils and angels, also had the courage to say "evolution is not a theory, it is a fact."

The Catholic Church is also known for its broadness and depth. The expression "having Catholic tastes" means having a broad and all-encompassing world view.

Nonetheless, the Catholic Church has far too many skeletons buried in its closet. If God came tomorrow they would be rejected as unworthy.

First of all, their entire religion is premised on historical lies. Let us start with the issue of who killed Jesus Christ. Crucifixion is a Roman punishment. It was a Roman who ordered it. It is obvious to any objective scholar that Jews were blamed in order to please the Roman Emperor Constantine as they cobbled together a system of religious mind-control for the Roman Empire.

Secondly, like a prominent citizen who lied about his academic record a long time ago, the Roman Catholic Church lied about its relation to St. Peter in order to give themselves a pedigree going straight to Jesus and therefore God. They need to present all historical evidence about their origins in their possession to any interested scholars if they wish to prove what appears to be a spurious claim to a direct link with St. Peter. I seriously doubt the real God would welcome a church that has forged its credentials. More serious still is the issue of the cultural Countless thousands were burned alive and otherwise tortured in order to create a mono-culture controlled by a single Patriarch, the pope. Competing schools of Christianity were destroyed. Competing ancient texts about Christ were burned or buried in Vatican vaults. Many of the ancient religions and philosophies of the West were destroyed or allowed to survive in a perverted, diminished form within the Catholic mono-culture. It is only thanks to the Jews and the Arabs, the Semites (or Sumerian descendants), that much of Western tradition survived and was allowed to enrich humanity.

Of course, to be fair the Church, especially its Celtic branch in far away Ireland, did play a role in preserving much ancient knowledge, even as it attempted to wipe out competing beliefs through violence.

However, perhaps the biggest test of the church lies in looking at how its teachings conform to natural law. The Catholics agree that God created nature. If that is so, then observing nature should allow us to see how much of their world-view conforms with God-created nature. Here we find many glaring flaws.

Consider, for example, the teaching that only humans have souls. What about whales? What about Chimpanzees and Bonobos that share more than 98% of our genes. What about all other living creatures? Teaching that only humans have souls is a peculiar characteristic of all the "peoples of the book" and is not found in most other traditions. They argue that after 3.5 billion years of evolution, suddenly God decided to zap souls into a certain line of ape-like bipedal creatures. The idea that only humans have a soul leads to a rapacious and superior attitude towards the natural world.

The belief of end-times is also a cultural poison because it teaches that since the world is about to end anyway, there is no need to take care of it.

The biggest question though, is why does the Vatican have so many secrets? Usually people keep things secret because they have something bad to hide. Does the Church want God to arrive some day and find out they have been telling huge lies to their congregation in order to protect the vested interests of a pyramid shaped bureaucracy with a single eye at the top? I think not.

So, Roman Catholic Church, it is time to confess to your sins and prepare to meet your maker. Open your archives for all to see. Tell us the truth about your origins. Give back to the Jews any items from the temple of Solomon you have in your possession. Ask the Muslims to forgive you for the Crusades. Explain the total truth of your church and ask for forgiveness, which shall most certainly be granted since, in the overall karmic balance, your good works far exceed your sins.

If the Vatican follows this suggestion, and if the other Western one-eyed pyramid also reveals its hidden secrets, then finally the Western world will be able to harmonize its traditions. A 2,000 year old grudge-match with the Jews and a 1300 year old grudge-match with the Muslims can be put to rest. A large portion of humanity can be freed from the culture-historical equivalent of a mental disease.

All that would be needed would be for humans to come up with a core body of knowledge we all agree to be true. Religion will become compatible with science, history and all the other human schools of knowledge. Remaining differences can be discussed politely over tea, creating a new engine for human progress. Never again will religion allow itself to become a cloak for tribalism and chauvinism.

To set all this in motion we need a big event to act as a kind of historical marker or turning point. As I have suggested elsewhere, for the West, a non-destructive equivalent to Armageddon would serve that function very well.

"Sorry."

During today's proceedings, Ford presented a petition bearing the names of 151 supporters who urged him not to apologize.

He also held up a supermarket flyer which advertised "Oriental flavour, 100% pure corn starch."

Ford

warranted an apology and determined that Ford's statement didn't go far enough because he started off saying, "If I have offended anyone." Ford insisted he had retracted his statements and challenged Bussin's ruling, which sparked a vote to determine whether she was right in continuing to demand an apology.

City council voted 33-8 in Bussin's favour which prompted Ford to utter the word,

Rob Ford says sorry

Councillor apologizes for 'Oriental' remarks
Councillor Rob Ford was pushed into apologizing for comments he made about "Oriental people."

Ford sparked controversy at a council meeting earlier this month when — during a debate about holiday shopping — he made comments that included "these Oriental people work like dogs, they sleep beside their machines." Ford said he did not know that his use of Oriental "was a racist comment" adding he should have chosen the word Asian.

"If I have offended anyone in the Asian community, I will proudly retract my statements," said Ford.

Sandra Bussin ruled that Ford's remarks