NWO's Globe & Mail smears anti-EU protests as 'right-wing'

Having seen the front page of the Globe today it is clear the NWO is working hard to term the EU rebellion as "right-wing". It is always divide and conquer but I believe the real source of this dissatisfaction is a true loss of control, of real democracy. People know it in their bones and simply want their voices heard in some small way.

It's neither right nor left -- is actually quite basic in nature. Everyone wants to at least believe they have a voice. The EU is run by appointed bureaucrats somewhere in Belgium -- and even worse to come in the near future as real democracy dies.

Banking is another area that is run by a small elite where ultimate control resides -- the good old Rothschild gang as usual all the way back to the Battle of Waterloo where they first took control of the English stock exchange.

Yes, it's the loss of control... and always that occurs after the question mark appears. People are wondering where their "voices" went wrong, because those who were elected are simply not representing people's best interest any more in any way, shape or form.

Look at all the corruption issues emerging all of a sudden... they are crashing the whole system...and they are doing it by destroying the trust (or what's left of it) in government. You have to have total contempt to create the sort of chaos they want to happen, the reaction that begs a solution, which they will then offer.

On page 3 at right you can read about 'Lord' Mandelson's appointment in Britain's Brown government where he actually directs policy singlehanded without being elected to any position.

Mandelson is of course, the Rothschild appointee. Former prime minister Blair is touted as the next leader in the EU leadership post to be created for that region as a one-world government is the final Rothschild aim.

Brown's investigation of why Britain was dragged into the Iraq invasion will not reveal details until after the next election.

This may give Blair time to further consolidate his position to be governor-controller of the whole of the European Union countries. He has spent time cosying up to the Pope as power groups in Europe must be courted for this imminent position.

When Blair was still a relatively honest politician, and still in his early years as British PM he passed legislation requiring Masonic Order members to 'out' themselves if they had Masonic membership while serving in the British judiciary as judges, policemen, jail guards and justices of the peace.

Later, under the influence of the EU he was told it was okay to have secret societies operating. The original reason for having the Masons 'out' themselves was because of a jail guard who was refused any promotions over the years even though he trained others. It was revealed that racism was the basis of his lack of promotion as he was of Asian background.

The EU is of course, considered to be a fiefdom of the Vatican and Blair's wife was a Catholic may have influenced the decision to back off from chasing out secret societies. He has since visited the Pope and the middle east as well. It is considered that the Vatican is working with the Rothschilds to have a place of their own in Jerusalem.

As Henry Makow reports to us about his time in Israel, the country's main buildings -- supreme court, etc. are built to be viewed as giant world government setups instead of just bureaucratic towers to serve a country of 6 million Israelis.

The Rothschilds financed the construction of these buildings which cost mega-bucks to appear.

Reinforcing stereotypes to divide and conquer the public, the Globe and National Post alternatively smear spontaneous protests as 'left-wing' or 'right-wing' as though they were dishonest or up to no good.

The public's genuine sheer frustration which appears in demonstrations is not to be taken seriously and is instead smeared and belittled by the media so that no action is taken by authorities to correct the financial powers and corruption that exploit the common herd.

Putting Your Selves Together: Integrating Our Many Selves

By Jason Faulkner

Human beings are multidimensional creatures. Our identity is made up of the sum total of our many traits and values and our character. Each of us possesses within us many different selves. There is the adult part of ourselves and the childlike spirit that resides in each one of us. There is our masculine side and our feminine side. There is the hard worker in us, the artist, the parent, and the caretaker. All of these selves combined form a well-rounded, complex person. Not all of these different aspects of who we are blend easily with each other, however, and some of them may even conflict with or oppose one another. When a person's different parts clash, such as the self that is our childlike aspect and the self that is our responsible adult, we often end up compartmentalizing or suppressing one of these aspects to ease the conflict. While this may make us feel better in the short run, we would be better off finding a way for these two selves to coexist peacefully inside u!

Though some of our selves may be dominant while others rarely assert themselves, attempts to suppress one or more of these different aspects can leave us feeling that our identity has been splintered. Being able to successfully integrate our various selves can be as simple as accepting and embracing each one. It may also be necessary to reframe the way you see them. The immature self that you ridicule can become a valued and accepted part of you when redefined as your more playful aspect. Journaling can help you acknowledge and understand the different parts that make up your identity.

When your many selves blend together to form an integrated individual, you will feel changed. You will no longer feel pulled in multiple directions, and you will never again have to deny any part of yourself. You become a complete person—familiar and comfortable with the many selves that make up the person you are.

NOTE TO ALL ONTARIO ZIONISTS:

You orders are to help Fantino!
Fantino's agreement to acquiesce to Israel's influence by taking OPP staff there with himself for research and wining and dining which he accepted -- will ensure that he is re-appointed to another undetermined number of years.

Julian Fantino re-appointed as Ontario's top cop. THE CANADIAN PRESS
Julian Fantino has been re-appointed as Ontario's top cop for one more year.
Premier Dalton McGuinty says Fantino will remain the head of the Ontario Provincial Police until the end of July 2010.

Fantino, whose tenure at the OPP has at times been marred by controversy, has been at the helm of the unit since 2006.
His original appointment was extended in March 2008.
Most recently, Fantino has been fighting to have an adjudicator removed from a disciplinary hearing amid allegations he abused his power and acted unlawfully.

A search for his successor will begin next January.

A moment in Canadian history?

The Phoenix 'Assassination' program in Vietnam used Canada's Reform Party founder Preston Manning as an independent 'non-military' observer to determine its efficacy.
He did this on a combination 6-month tour and honeymoon.
After the Mai Lai massacre that saw half the surviving village run into the jungle only to come back some time later, revengeful, after having joined the Viet Cong.

So, the assassination program used its powers to kill with impunity by going into villages -- and grab about 6 elders who would run a village -- in front of the villagers -- shoot 5 of them dead and then leave the 6th alive, intact and the village intact functioning as a so-called viable economic unit -- at least for fawning newspaper reporters.

So, it avoided pointless massacres. That is the opportunity that the ability to kill with impunity provided.
Manning came back to Canada and used TRW corporation and Rand Corporation methodologies adopted for peace time civilian Canadians which in this case targeted Canadian natives in northern Alberta and the north-west territories in order to cheat them of natural resources rights.

I visited next door to the Rand Corporation in 1968 when Manning was in Vietnam. It was a police state operation and my luggage was searched when I stayed at a motel across the street plus I was photographed at the airport when I left Los Angeles.
If you want extensive research on the Phoenix Assassination program I will be glad to provide.

The teenage girls run-away from home due to rape and impregnated in the streets of Toronto without social or legal help. CLC ventures to undertake this challenge only through public donations and refuse to accept grants from any level of government except office accommodations.

CLC now accepts applications from retired lawyers, professionals, support staff and others ready to help those in genuine need as free volunteers in a legal environment without remuneration.

Mr. Gavin MacKenzie, Treasurer, Law Society of Upper Canada has been kind enough to amend By-Laws for Volunteer Lawyers to practice law without paying license fee to help the needy in their

It is time for the public to become involved -- these problems can become anyone's -- help now for all Canadians and their futures. Canadians have realized that the law profession has become the tool of the rich and corrupt in society; Canada will be better off without barristers and solicitors.
It is exceedingly difficult to proceed -- write to the mayor to ask for free lawyer's free office accommodation to help the homeless.
