Jews 'Very Concerned' About Obama, Leader of Jewish Organizations Says

By: Ronald Kessler / President Obama's strongest supporters among Jewish leaders are deeply troubled by his recent Middle East initiatives, and some are questioning what he really believes, Malcolm Hoenlein, executive vice chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, tells Newsmax in an exclusive interview.

Though Hoenlein represents a political powerhouse that includes 50 major Jewish groups. Among them are the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC), B'nai B'rith International, the American Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Committee, the Zionist Organization of America, Hadassah, and the Anti-Defamation League. Hoenlein has been the professional head of the conference since 1986, overseeing its day-to-day activities as the coordinating body for American Jews on issues of concern in the U.S. and globally.

Jewish leaders "are expressing concern about what was said [in Obama's Cairo speech]."

But many in the Jewish community, including some of Obama's most ardent supporters, are troubled by his comments in the Middle East, especially his remarks to his Cairo audience. Others are concerned that, facing a multitude of problems on the domestic front, Obama has traveled twice to the Middle East without visiting Israel, America's stalwart ally in the region for more than a half-century.

Reaction to Obama's speech has drawn a range of reaction from many Jewish leaders. Such reactions from major Jewish leaders have largely remained beneath the surface, exchanged privately among them.

Hoenlein believes that the most troubling aspect of Obama's comments in his Cairo speech was his effort to equate the Nazi killing of more than six million Jews during the Holocaust with Israel's struggle with the Palestinians over six decades and the suffering caused by the displacement of the Palestinians.

"On the other hand," Obama said, as he transitioned from the Holocaust to the modern Middle East, "it is also undeniable that the Palestinian people — Muslims and Christians — have suffered in pursuit of a homeland."

Hoenlein: "The Palestinian refugee problem, or dislocation as he said, didn't come about because of the creation of the Jewish state, it came about because the Arab states declared war on Israel."

Obama made no reference to the fact that "the reason the Palestinians don't have a state is because their leaders rejected every offer for peace," Hoenlein says. "Whether it was in 1937 or 1947 or 1967, or later on, up until Ehud Olmert's offer and Ehud Barak's offer, they rejected everything, even when they were getting virtually everything they had asked for."

That is because, "The problem really is not what Israel does, it's that Israel is," Hoenlein says. "And they're not ready to accept the existence of the Jewish state."

In discussing the Palestinian refugee problem, Obama failed to mention the other refugee problem involving nearly a million Jews, Hoenlein says. At the time of the creation of the modern state of Israel in 1948, Jews populated all of the major Arab cities from Baghdad in the East to Casablanca in the West.

Hoenlein notes that after modern Israel saw its rebirth, Jews "were driven out of Arab countries penniless, and some of their families had lived there for a thousand years, and yet there was no reference to them." (Palestinians also occupied their land for a thousand years) He adds, "This is not a question of tit for tat. It's a question of the realities that are communicated to a vast audience in the Arab Muslim world."

As troubling as Obama's references to Israel and the Palestinians were, Hoenlein found the president's failure to mention the radical regime now running Tehran equally disturbing.

"What concerned us, concerned many people, was the message to Iran that we didn't hear," Hoenlein says.

Israel's 400 nuclear warheads are not mentioned as Israel refuses to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty as part of its extremely powerful armed forces.

Re: New Marshall Thomas Vids on Youtube From: ewraven1@sympatico.ca

The Phoenix 'Assassination' program in Vietnam used Canada's Reform Party founder Preston Manning as an independent 'non-military' observer to determine its efficacy.

He did this on a combination 6-month tour and honeymoon.

After the Mai Lai massacre that saw half the surviving village run into the jungle only to come back some time later, revengeful, after having joined the Viet Cong.

So, the assassination program used its powers to kill with impunity by going into villages -- and grab about 6 elders who would run a village -- in front of the villagers -- shoot 5 of them dead and then leave the 6th alive, intact and the village intact functioning as a so-called viable economic unit -- at least for fawning newspaper reporters.

So, it avoided pointless massacres. That is the opportunity that the ability to kill with impunity provided.

Manning came back to Canada and used

TRW corporation and Rand Corporation methodologies adopted for peace time civilian Canadians which in this case targeted Canadian natives in northern Alberta and the northwest territories in order to cheat them of natural resources rights.

I visited next door to the Rand Corporation in 1968 when Manning was in Vietnam. It was a police state operation and my luggage was searched when I stayed at a motel across the street plus I was photographed at the airport when I left Los Angeles.

If you want extensive research on the Phoenix Assassination program I will be glad to provide. -- Victor

From Eleanor: Thanks, Victor - I already have a long article on Phoenix.

The problem at hand isn't lack of knowledge about Phoenix, it's about this dude who keeps flooding the web with grossly misleading attempts to connect OS/EH with either "MONARCH" or his imaginary "New Phoenix" program, and will not quit.

I don't know what his motive is, but what he's doing is classic poison pill disinformation.
